In order to be prepared for the challenges of the 21st century, students need to be globally competent. The Young Leaders Institute (YLI) is a week-long program intended to prepare high school students for leadership in a globally interconnected city and world.

Throughout the week, students will learn the value of collaboration as they work in teams, researching, debating, and presenting solutions for the challenges facing our world. They will be mentored throughout the week by Asia Society staff and local experts in their respective fields. Students will also receive nightly assignments and readings. All content provided will help students form arguments when taking the side of an issue and be invaluable when presenting policy recommendations on the Institute's last day.

An application is required to be admitted to the program. Due to a generous donation, the Institute will be offered FREE of charge in 2017. For questions about the Institute, please contact Saleena Jafry at SJafry@AsiaSociety.org or 713.496.9901.
