

Elaine Chin
Producer

Elaine Chin recently served as Vice President of Production-China for Walt Disney Studios. She completed production on the Chinese-language romantic comedy The Dreaming Man, starring Lin Yun (The Mermaid) and Chen Bolin (20 Once Again). Previously Chin was President of Production for director Justin Lin's company, Barnstorm Pictures, which had a first-look deal with Universal Pictures. She and Lin founded YOMYOMF, an Asian pop culture blog and digital company that became one of the first YouTube Original channels funded by Google. Chin also served as a production executive at 20th Century Fox and HBO, where she supervised multiple Emmy and Golden Globe Award-winning films and miniseries. She began her career at the William Morris Agency and Dragon Pictures, working for British producers Damian Jones and Graham Broadbent. Chin received her B.A. in Art History and Chinese Studies from Wellesley College.
