

Asia Society Career Opportunity

Location: Flexible, with a preference for New York or Washington, DC

Position: Associate Director of Climate – Code 2023

Purpose:

The Associate Director of Climate develops and implements projects to support ambitious climate action across Asia – and in China in particular – including accelerating the transition to net zero emissions. This is a grant-funded position, reporting to the Director of Asia-Pacific Sustainability.

Responsibilities:

- Working with the Director, design, manage and implement ASPI projects to support enhanced climate ambition and action in Asia, including a stronger vision and pathway for reaching net zero emissions across Asia and what is required in key national jurisdictions to get there; and mapping and supporting strategic approaches to encourage additional action by China in particular.
- Develop, organize, and execute high-level meetings and private and public events on strategic, political, and operational issues and opportunities for enhanced climate ambition and action, working with senior ASPI staff.
- Develop and publish high quality and impactful written products to influence policy decision-making including reports, policy roadmaps, policy papers and op-eds, as well as generating and supporting other media engagement.
- Build and strengthen relationships and partnerships with stakeholders in these initiatives, particularly relevant policy makers in major Asian economies and international jurisdictions, and representatives from multilateral organizations and civil society.
- Identify experts and leaders from stakeholder groups to take part in initiatives, manage this engagement and liaise with participants.
- Assist in the management of tasks of staff and consultants engaged in your initiatives, as well as the budget, in concert with ASPI leadership.
- Plan and carry out fundraising activities for your projects and portfolio, in coordination with the Director of Sustainability, Asia Society's development, department and ASPI senior staff.
- Engage in other duties as required.

Qualifications:

- Advanced degree relevant to international climate change policy or international relations.
- At least 6-8 years of progressively responsible experience managing and initiatives focused on climate mitigation policy, ideally in Asia, covering China, the rest of North East Asia and ASEAN countries.
