Seeking Truth Through Facts
U.S.-China Series Program 5 of 5:

THIRD ANNUAL
Future of U.S. & China Conference
Thursday, January 14, 2021
Webcast
Dear friends,

Thank you for kicking off 2021 with us at our third annual virtual Future of U.S. and China conference.

With this event, the final program of our five-part Seeking Truth Through Facts U.S.-China series, we strive to advance our mission of navigating understanding of what is arguably the most important bilateral relationship of our lifetime. We have convened top speakers and a quality audience for you in our ongoing effort to bring to the global community more voices on Asia, and from Asia.

Our full-day virtual program lineup includes 28 speakers across multiple time zones, on topics ranging from trade, the economy, technology, domestic politics, territorial disputes and the path forward.

The highlight of our event is our tribute to Secretary George P. Shultz - for his lifelong contributions to U.S.-China relations, longtime service as Honorary Chair of Asia Society Northern California, and in celebration of his centennial birthday. In the second half of our program, Secretary Shultz will do a joint interview with Dr. Henry Kissinger, moderated by our Policy Institute VP Danny Russel.

We also welcome our new global Asia Society President & CEO Kevin Rudd, the 26th Prime Minister of Australia, who will give a keynote address.

Joining us for the second time during this coronavirus pandemic is California Lieutenant Governor Eleni Kounalakis. She inspired all of us by speaking live at our virtual annual gala in April 2020, which was hosted three weeks after the shelter in place order in San Francisco.

This event would not have been possible without our dedicated Advisory Board, our first-rate sponsors, and our wonderful team - all of whom are listed in this program. Thank you.

We look forward to your active participation in this year's virtual format – and eagerly anticipate when we can gather again in-person.

Best,

Margaret Conley
Executive Director
Asia Society Northern California

Asia Society Northern California Groundbreaker Event with Secretary Shultz
At Hoover Institute
March 3, 2020
Welcome Remarks

Margaret Conley, a Bay Area native, is the Executive Director of Asia Society Northern California. Her non-profit experience includes the Berggruen Institute, where she launched a Philosophy + Culture Institute with a focus on the U.S. and China. Margaret was based in Asia for several years as a television news correspondent with ABC News in Jakarta and Tokyo, and with Bloomberg Television in Shanghai. She was part of the global ABC team that won a News and Documentary Emmy Award for presidential inauguration coverage. Her interviews include Howard Schultz, Richard Branson, Ban Ki-Moon, LeBron James and Beyoncé. She has a bachelor’s degree from Columbia University and a master’s in journalism from the University of Hong Kong, which specializes in coverage of Asia. Margaret was selected as one of the Most Influential Women in Bay Area Business by the San Francisco Business Times in 2019. She is a member of the International Women’s Forum.

Opening Remarks

Ambassador Eleni Kounalakis was sworn in as the 50th Lieutenant Governor of California by Governor Gavin Newsom on January 7th, 2019. She is the first woman elected Lt. Governor of California. A native Californian, she visited each of the state’s 58 counties during her historic campaign. From 2010 to 2013, Kounalakis served as President Barack Obama’s Ambassador to the Republic of Hungary. Kounalakis was the first Greek-American woman – and at age 43 one of America’s youngest – to serve as U.S. Ambassador. Her highly acclaimed memoir, “Madam Ambassador, Three Years of Diplomacy, Dinner Parties and Democracy in Budapest” (The New Press, 2015), chronicles the onset of Hungary’s democratic backsliding. Governor Jerry Brown appointed Kounalakis to chair the California Advisory Council for International Trade and Investment in 2014. Kounalakis was a Virtual Fellow at the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Intelligence and Research (INR) between 2014 and 2017, specializing in international trade and immigration. She is currently a director of the Association of American Ambassadors and a National Democratic Institute (NDI) “Ambassadors Circle” advisor.
The Honorable Kevin Rudd is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Asia Society, as of January 1st, 2021 and President of the Asia Society Policy Institute. He served as Australia’s 26th Prime Minister (2007-2010, 2013) and as Foreign Minister (2010-2012). He is also a leading international authority on China. He began his career as a China scholar, serving as an Australian diplomat in Beijing before entering Australian politics.

As Prime Minister, he led Australia’s response during the Global Financial Crisis, reviewed by the IMF as the most effective stimulus strategy of all member states. Mr. Rudd co-founded the G20 to drive the global response to the crisis. He was active in global foreign policy leadership, serving as a driving force in expanding the East Asia Summit to include the U.S. and Russia. Mr. Rudd legislated for a 20% mandatory renewable energy target for Australia. He was a member of the UN Secretary-General’s High Level Panel on Global Sustainability and is a co-author of the report Resilient People, Resilient Planet for the 2012 Rio+20 Conference. His government turned Australia into one of the top ten aid donors in the world – increasing their foreign aid budget to approximately $5 billion. He also appointed Australia’s first ever Ambassador for Women and Girls to support the critical role of women in development and reduce physical and sexual violence against women.

Mr. Rudd joined the Asia Society Policy Institute (ASPI) in New York as its inaugural President in January 2015. ASPI is a “think-do tank” dedicated to using second-track diplomacy to assist governments and businesses in resolving policy challenges within Asia, and between Asia and the West. He was appointed to the IMF Managing Director’s External Advisory Group in 2020. He is a Distinguished Fellow at Chatham House in London, a Distinguished Statesman with the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington DC, a Distinguished Fellow at the Paulson Institute in Chicago, and a member of the Comprehensive Nuclear Test-Ban Treaty Organization’s Group of Eminent Persons. He serves on the International Advisory Board of the Schwarzman Scholars program at Tsinghua University. Mr. Rudd is proficient in Mandarin Chinese.
Session 2: Rebalancing the U.S.-China Economic Relationship: Trade, Investment, and Technology

Gary Rieschel (Moderator) is Founding Managing Partner at Qiming, a firm with over $3B USD focused on early stage investments in China and one of China’s premier VC firms. The Honorable George P. Shultz has had a distinguished career in government, in academia, and in the world of business. He is one of two individuals who have held four different federal cabinet posts; he has taught at three of this country's great universities; and for eight years he was president of a major engineering and construction company.

Shultz was born in New York City on December 13, 1920, and grew up in Englewood, New Jersey. He attended Princeton University, graduating in 1942 with a BA in economics. Shortly after graduation, he enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps and served through 1945. He then resumed his studies, this time at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), where he earned a PhD in industrial economics in 1949. From 1948 to 1957 he taught at MIT, taking a leave of absence in 1955 to serve as a senior staff economist on President Eisenhower’s Council of Economic Advisers.

In 1957, Shultz joined the faculty of the University of Chicago’s Graduate School of Business as a professor of industrial relations. He was named dean five years later. From 1968 to 1969 he was a fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University. He returned to government when he was appointed secretary of labor by President Nixon in 1969. In June 1970, he became the first director of the newly formed Office of Management and Budget. In May 1972, he was named secretary of the Treasury, a post he held for two years. During this period, Shultz also served as chairman of the Council on Economic Policy, negotiated a series of trade protocols with the Soviet Union, and represented the United States at the Tokyo meeting on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Shultz left government service in 1974 to become president and director of the Bechtel Group, where he remained until 1982. While at Bechtel, he maintained close ties with the academic world by joining the faculty of Stanford University.

Shultz held two key positions in the Reagan administration: chairman of the President’s Economic Policy Advisory Board (1981–82) and secretary of state (1982–89). As secretary of state, he played a key role in implementing a foreign policy that led to the successful conclusion of the Cold War and the development of strong relationships between the United States and the countries of the Asia-

Pacific region including China, Japan, and the Association of Southeast Asian Nations.

After leaving office, Shultz rejoined the Bechtel Group as director and senior counselor. He also rejoined Stanford as professor of international economics at the Graduate School of Business and as a distinguished fellow at the Hoover Institution. In 2001, Shultz was named the Thomas W. and Susan B. Ford Distinguished Fellow at the Hoover Institution.

In January 1989, Shultz was awarded the Medal of Freedom, the nation’s highest civilian honor.

Dr. Henry Alfred Kissinger was sworn in on September 22, 1973, as the 56th Secretary of State, a position he held until January 20, 1977. He also served as Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs from January 20, 1969, until November 3, 1975. In July 1983 he was appointed by President Reagan to chair the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America until it ceased operation in January 1985, and from 1984-1990 he served as a member of the President’s Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. From 1986-1988 he was a member of the Commission on Integrated Long-Term Strategy of the National Security Council and Defense Department. He served as a member of the Defense Policy Board from 2001 to 2016.

At present, Dr. Kissinger is Chairman of Kissinger Associates, Inc., an international consulting firm. Among the awards Dr. Kissinger has received have been a Bronze Star from the U.S. Army in 1945; the Nobel Peace Prize in 1973; the Presidential Medal of Freedom (the nation’s highest civilian award) in 1977; and the Medal of Liberty (given one time to ten foreign-born American leaders) in 1986.

Daniel Russel is Vice President for International Security and Diplomacy at the Asia Society Policy Institute (ASPI). Previously he served as a Diplomat in Residence and Senior Fellow with ASPI for a one year term. A career member of the Senior Foreign Service at the U.S. Department of State, he most recently served as the Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs. Prior to his appointment as Assistant Secretary on July 12, 2013, Mr. Russel served at the White House as Special Assistant to the President and National Security Council (NSC) Senior Director for Asian Affairs. During his tenure there, he helped formulate President Obama’s strategic rebalance to the Asia Pacific region, including efforts to strengthen alliances, deepen U.S. engagement with multilateral organizations, and expand cooperation with emerging powers in the region.

John “Jack” Wadsworth is the Honorary Chair of Morgan Stanley Asia and an Advisory Director of Morgan Stanley, globally based in San Francisco. In 1987, he moved to Japan as President of Morgan Stanley Japan, Chairman of its Executive and Operating Committees, and as Head of the Firm’s investment banking business in Asia. In 1992, Mr. Wadsworth moved to Hong Kong as Chairman of Morgan Stanley Asia. In 2001, he moved from Hong Kong to San Francisco. Mr. Wadsworth earned a BA from Williams College in 1961, and an MBA from the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business in 1963.

Andy Rothman (Moderator) is an Investment Strategist at Matthews Asia and sits on the board of Asia Society Northern California. He is principally responsible for developing research focused on China’s ongoing economic and political developments while also complementing the broader investment team with in-depth analysis on Asia. In addition, Andy plays a key role in communicating to clients and the media the firm's perspectives and latest insights into China and the greater Asia region. Prior to joining Matthews Asia in 2014, Andy spent 14 years as CLSA’s China macroeconomic strategist where he conducted analysis into China and delivered his insights to their clients. Previously, Andy spent 17 years in the U.S. Foreign Service, with a diplomatic career focused on China, including as head of the macroeconomics and domestic policy office of the U.S. Embassy in Beijing. He earned an M.A. in public administration from the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs and a B.A. from Colgate University. He is a proficient Mandarin speaker.

He also serves as Chairman of the Board of the Center for a New American Security, as a non-resident Fellow at Harvard University’s Belfer Center, as Vice Chairman of the East-West Center in Hawaii and as an external Director on the Lixil Board. He was also appointed as the Henry A. Kissinger Fellow at the McCain Institute for 2018-19. From 2009 to 2013, he served as the Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs, where he is widely credited as being a key architect of the “pivot to Asia.” For advancing a comprehensive U.S. strategy that took him to every corner of the Asia-Pacific region, Secretary Hillary Clinton awarded him the Secretary of State’s Distinguished Service Award (2013) – the nation’s highest diplomatic honor. Campbell was recognized in the Queen’s New Year’s list of honors in 2014 as an Honorary Officer of the Order of Australia and as an Honorary Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit for his work in support of American relations with Australia and New Zealand respectively. He also received top national honors from Korea and Taiwan. Campbell is a contributor to the Financial Times of London and the author or editor of ten books, most recently The Pivot: The Future of American Statecraft in Asia (Twelve Books, 2016).

Karl Eikenberry is the former U.S. Ambassador to Afghanistan and Lieutenant General, U.S. Army (retired). He is a faculty member of Schwarzman College, Tsinghua University and is a Non Resident Fellow at the Liechtenstein Institute on Self Determination at Princeton University. Ambassador Eikenberry is a board member of Asia Society Northern California. Previously he was the Director of the U.S.-Asia Security Initiative at the Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center, Stanford University, and an affiliate with the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies’ Center for International Security and Cooperation; Center for Democracy, Development, and Rule of Law; and The Europe Center. Prior to Stanford, he served as the U.S. Ambassador to Afghanistan from 2009 until 2011. Before appointment as Chief of Mission in Kabul, Ambassador Eikenberry had a thirty-five year career in the United States Army, retiring in April 2009 with the rank of Lieutenant General. His military operational posts included commander and staff officer with mechanized, light, airborne, and ranger infantry units in the continental U.S., Hawaii, Korea, Italy, and Afghanistan as the Commander of the American-led Coalition forces.

Dave Rank is the head of the China practice at The Cohen Group, a global business strategy consultancy, a Senior Fellow at Yale University’s Jackson Institute for Global Affairs, and teaches at the Johns Hopkins University School for Advanced International Studies (SAIS). He spent 27 years as a State Department Foreign Service Officer, including his final assignment as Deputy Chief of Mission and, following the 2016 election, as the Chargé d’Affaires (acting Ambassador) at the U.S. Embassy in Beijing. In addition to six Foreign Service assignments in greater China (three in Beijing, two at the American Institute in Taiwan and one at the U.S. Consulate General in Shanghai), Dave served at the U.S. embassies in Kabul, Athens, and Port Louis (Mauritius). In Washington, he worked in the office of the Special Representative for Afghanistan and Pakistan (SRAP), the State Department Korea desk, as Special Assistant to the Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs and as a Fellow at Georgetown University’s Institute for the Study of Diplomacy. In 2015 he received the State Department’s Distinguished Honor Award for his role in the release of the only American servicemember held by the enemy in Afghanistan. He is also the recipient of the American Foreign Service Association’s Sinclaire Award for the study of languages and their related cultures. He speaks Mandarin Chinese, French, Dari and Greek. He and his wife, Mary, have three children.
Congratulations on your centennial birthday!

I was deeply impressed by your advice in the last Asia Society meeting in your library office that the personal relationship between you and your counterparts is critical in any international affairs.

It is with great respect and admiration that we express our gratitude for your leadership, wisdom and impact. You have been a force in our lives since the days at the University of Chicago and from its beginning nearly 20 years ago the Asia Society Northern California. As honorary Chair of the Asia Society Northern California Center, you have set us apart from all our peers and we are truly grateful to have this opportunity to honor your support.

We thank you for your many gifts.

Mr. & Mrs. Chong-Moon Lee would like to honor Patriot George Shultz. The above photograph was taken at the “Asia Foundation Award - Leaders on the Frontlines” event held on September 10, 2019. At the event, Mr. Lee introduced Secretary Shultz and talked about his life as well as his unique, productive, and exceptionally creative leadership in academia, industry, and government, including his brilliant role in leading, advising and opening up the Soviet Union through working with Mr. Gorbachev, the former president of the Soviet Union.

George P. Shultz

Dear Secretary Shultz,

On behalf of the entire Chevron family, it’s my privilege to send you warm greetings as you celebrate your centennial year.

After your service as America’s Secretary of State concluded, we were fortunate that you joined Chevron’s board. We benefited greatly from your wisdom and experience across so many disciplines, as well as your deep understanding of how to bring people together and build trust to find mutually beneficial solutions, no matter how tough the challenge.

We proudly point to your critical role during the complex negotiations – first with the Soviets, then later with negotiators from Kazakhstan – that helped create the oil production joint venture Tengizchevroil. There were many unknowns at that time. Based on what President Nazarbayev saw, however, he placed his trust in Chevron. The partnership we built stands today.

For Kazakhstan, the TCO partnership has strengthened its communities and diversified its economy, in addition to benefiting countless others throughout the region.

For Chevron, TCO was a foundation for our growing world-wide presence and remains a significant operation in our Upstream business. TCO shaped the company we are today.

Many other such far-reaching benefits across the globe are the result of the integrity, statesmanship and the trust you’ve built throughout your remarkable life.

From all of us at Chevron, we thank you for your service to so many. We are enormously proud to be part of your legacy and to count you as part of our family. We couldn’t be more pleased to wish you a very happy birthday, as you celebrate 100 years young.

Sincerely,

Jay Johnson

Happy 100th, Secretary Shultz! Thank you for your steadfast words and deeds in fostering relationships and building lasting peace for our one humanity. Your wisdom and creativity on having dialogues and developing personal bonds and trust even in the most challenging situations is inspiring. Your humility amplifies your groundbreaking contributions to world diplomacy. We appreciate your support to Asia Society’s mission to promote friendships and understandings. I wish you many years of good health, happiness and engagement.

Secretary Shultz: Congratulations!

To paraphrase Mike Mansfield, “the first 100 years are the hardest.” I joined the Foreign Service during your tenure as Secretary of State and served as Ambassador Mansfield’s assistant at Embassy Tokyo. I can attest to his profound admiration of you — a feeling shared by myself and my Foreign Service colleagues. Thank you for your leadership and wishing you happiness in the days ahead.

Danny Russel

Happy 100th George! Congratulations on this incredible milestone. Wishing you everlasting joy, happiness, love, and lots of memories on your very special day.

Thank you for your life-long dedication to fostering global diplomatic policies and contributions to maintaining positive U.S.-China relations. In light of recent events and the political landscape, the deteriorating relationship between the two countries will not be beneficial to the macroeconomy in the long run. We wish you everlasting joy, happiness, love, longevity, and healthiness so that the impact and influence you have made on U.S.-China relations can be sustained.

I had the good fortune of beginning my diplomatic career in George Shultz’s State Department, and never had to look any further than Secretary Shultz to see the best possible model of professionalism, intellect, decency, integrity and exceptional leadership.

His example shaped my generation of American diplomats, and it will inspire many more.

Ambassador William J. Burns
Former Deputy Secretary of State

Mr. Secretary/George,

As an American, you have my appreciation for being one of our truly outstanding public servants.

Personally, you have my gratitude for many meaningful milestones for me while you were Secretary of State, such as my swearing in as Ambassador to China, your longest and best trip to a single country, your instinctual understanding of my need to forego my briefing of you to make a last minute visit to my dying father.

Happy Birthday, Winston Lord
