Position: Technology Policy Fellow - Code 2119

FSLA Exemption Status: Exempt

SUMMARY:

The Asia Society is a leading educational organization dedicated to promoting mutual understanding and strengthening partnerships among peoples, leaders, and institutions of Asia and the United States in a global context. The Asia Society Policy Institute (ASPI) is a solution-oriented think and do tank that tackles major policy challenges confronting the Asia-Pacific in security, prosperity, sustainability, and the development of common norms and values for the region. The Asia Society Northern California Center (ASNC), through its diverse and multidisciplinary programming in the areas of policy, business, arts, culture and technology, presents timely and relevant forums for educating and engaging the public about critical issues facing the United States, Asia, and the world.

Asia Society seeks a Technology Policy Fellow based in San Francisco or Silicon Valley to expand the Asia Society Policy Institute's activities and impact in technology and innovation and to support the work of the Asia Society Northern California Center. The Technology Policy Fellow will serve with the executive director of ASNC as a representative of Asia Society in Northern California and play a leading role in developing and expanding its profile and activities. Reporting to the leadership of ASPI and ASNC, the Fellow will develop and implement major policy initiatives related to technology and innovation; the Fellow will also assist with ASNC programming in San Francisco and Silicon Valley. The Fellow will also seek to expand Asia Society's network within the local policy and business communities and share Asia Society's work with business leaders, policymakers, and media.

- Engage in the design, goal setting, and implementation of ASPI's initiatives and projects that are focused on technology policy in the Asia-Pacific.

- Represent Asia Society in the technology policy community to build and strengthen relationships and partnerships with relevant stakeholders, including business leaders, policymakers, academics, think tank experts and members of the press, as well as Asian diplomatic officials and representatives from multilateral organizations.

- Organize and plan ASPI events with ASNC featuring senior U.S. and Asian tech leaders in Northern California.

- Identify experts and leaders from stakeholder groups to take part in initiative task forces/steering committees; manage this engagement and liaise with these highlevel participants.

- Develop deep connections with major local tech companies.

- Stay abreast of new developments in the tech area of focus; analyze policy; lead in the coordination and development of policy roadmaps and recommendations; draft white papers and articles for diverse audiences.

- Contribute analysis and thought leadership to the technology policy debate through publications, speaking engagements, and media engagement as a representative of Asia Society.

- Develop and implement strategies for promoting ASPI's other initiatives on trade, security, and sustainability issues, and securing the attention and engagement of influential constituencies in Northern California.

- Contribute to the development of policy-related programming organized by ASNC.

- Manage the tasks of staff engaged in your initiatives, as well as the budget of these initiatives, in concert with your supervisors at ASNC and ASPI.

- Plan and carry out fundraising activities for your portfolio, in coordination with the Asia Society's development department, ASNC, and ASPI senior staff.
